

IS trembles in fear

Attorney General Loretta Lynch put everyone's worries to rest when she addressed the surviving family members and friends of those who were massacred by an Islamic jihadist in Orlando earlier this month.

It meant nothing that Omar Mateen allied himself with the Islamic State (IS) and dedicated the carnage to Allah.

Lynch assured the Islamist enemies of the U.S., foreign and domestic, that the reaction from the Obama Dept. of Justice to the Orlando slaughter will be one of love, unity and understanding; hugs all around (break into song: The Age of Aquarius...).

She assured the assembled that those nasty, gun-loving conservatives, Republicans, and NRA members will be dealt with; shunned and demeaned as bigots, racists and "nativists."

AG Lynch censored the recorded rants the Islamist butcher left as he destroyed his captives, obviously feeling the victims' survivors don't have a right to know.

But we can rest assured, that the Islamist barbarians in the IS are trembling with fear...

Somewhere it's 1960

Campaigning in Raleigh, NC on June 22, Mrs. Clinton unloaded her usual, tired tripe:

"Racism holds back minorities from working."

"It's national sovereignty, stupid."

European Union Exit

It had been simmering for over a decade, at least in Britain. Weaker national economies within the European Union (EU), propped up by bail-outs from the stronger, were encouraged by global banks. Recent memory serves up Greece, Portugal, Spain and Italy as "problem children."

A centralized, controlled economy and unique currency, it was decided, was desirable for the prosperity of a 28-nation union. Individuality and nationalism must be suppressed for the overall good of the many; since all were alike and wanted the same things, there could be open borders. Goods could flow much more easily without hindrances. Central banking was essential. Multiculturalism and diversity would rule.

This collective economic pipe dream fails, however, when exposed over time to the perils of socialism. When individual responsibility and free market entrepreneurship is not taught, the needy keep demanding more because they have been trained to expect it. They remain "entitled."

Financial decisions from Brussels became objectionable to those nations unable to chart their own economic destiny. The fact that elitist non-elected bureaucrats were calling the shots for everything from postal rates to the circumference of cabbages became a little heavy for the "common folk" to grasp. The piles of regulations were deep, costly and incomprehensible.

Then Germany's Angela Merkel decided it would be nice if 800,000 Syrian "refugees" per year could help out Germany's worker-hungry industries. Unfortunately, other EU nations followed her lead.

Except the "refugees" weren't just fleeing strife in Syria; they came from all over the Middle East – mainly young, fit males, 18-30 years old with no families in tow.

The EU's "humanitarian outreach program" soon became unmanageable. With hundreds of rapes and a rapidly escalating crime rate, there was no refugee "up side."

It suddenly became apparent that the Muslim migrants weren't aspiring to become citizens of their adoptive nations, simply moving their culture from Syria, Sudan and Libya to the EU countries. Their cultures followed them, as did their traditional desire for theocratic Islamic rule.

No secular rule and no assimilation.

For the British, watching one EU nation after another become flooded by the influx of Middle Eastern refugees under pressure from Brussels was the last straw. They already had Muslim enclaves and the accelerating crime rates within them. There were now over 80 sharia law courts spread across their nation, ignoring centuries of established English law. In 2015 alone, 630,000 foreign nationals were added to the nation's population of 65 million. The crushing regulatory burden and immigration dictates from Brussels had to end.

It was time for BREXIT, the British exit from the EU, promoted for years by Nigel Farage of UKIP (United Kingdom Independent Party) and others. There would be a referendum by the British people themselves; stay in the EU or leave. The turnout at polling stations on June 23 was 70%.

The next day, June 24, Nigel Farage of UKIP and London's former mayor, Boris Johnson, announced that June 23, 2016 would "henceforth" be Britain's "Independence Day." The Brits had spoken; 48% voted to stay and 52% decided to leave. The Left, as always, reacted with jeers, threats, and shouts of "Bigots!" and "Racists!"

The British people decided their own destiny; their sovereignty. Somewhere, Sir Winston Churchill, Lady Margaret Thatcher and Ronald Reagan are smiling. But not Barack Obama or David Cameron.

We Be People

The art of buying influence

Hillary gets 'Trumped'

Progressives saw the barbaric act of bloody mayhem in Orlando on June 12 as an opportunity. They are getting so close to ripping the Second Amendment from the Bill of Rights they can taste it, going so far as to suggest a "secret court" to suspend it... and, by extension, our due process.

Sadly, even some so-called Republicans in the U.S. House and Senate are taken in by the liberal habit of blaming inanimate objects. Guns kill people and SUVs kill people... but not the shooter or the driver. It's the tool that does the damage, all by itself. People, no matter how twisted, are simply incapable of responsibility. There are circumstances...

There was no Democrat propaganda effort to ban pressure cookers after the Boston Marathon Massacre, or knives after the Islamist beheading in Oklahoma, or box cutters or passenger aircraft after the Islamist attacks on 9/11/2001. Not even suggestions.

To see how disingenuous and demented some Democrats are in their anti-gun fervor, the latest stunt should convince you that these people have an agenda and it has nothing to do with saving lives...

Democrat Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi and her House surrogates staged a day-long "sit in" on the House floor on June 22. For them, suddenly it was 1968 again!

Obviously, the Democrats miss the heady McGovern days of sit-ins inside the college administration offices, demanding an end to the draft, the "War" in Vietnam or for co-ed dorms. Democrat protesters can still be obnoxious, make ugly faces and chant innocuous slogans (as seen on C-SPAN), even if they're House members and this time the "cause" is for curtailment of inalienable rights and eventually weapons confiscation.

But members of the Democrat Party and their fearless, leftist leader are frustrated with the citizens' will to resist. Since progressives cannot debate the issues or defend positions based on principle, reason, or established law, they stage a sit-in protest... or maybe just stamp their feet in a fit of pique.

Since "gun control" is an empty argument without common sense support, what are they to do? Enjoy the temporary walk down Memory Lane, just before they resign.

Last week, Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump delivered, even according to headlines at the leftist NPR, what the Republican voter base has waited twenty years to hear: an honest, full-frontal attack on a corrupt Democrat candidate for president. Using the candidate's own long track record of lies and shady arrangements, a world-class serial liar was exposed.

Donald Trump had a target-rich environment. Mrs. Clinton's "track record" as secretary of state for four years has been well-hidden up to now by a Democrat-controlled media. It's their sworn duty as loyal leftists to protect whatever malfeasance the Clintons indulge in, here or abroad.

Trump didn't even have to reach back in time, to all the crooked dealings and scandals since Whitewater. He had plenty of ammunition during the Obama Regime, like Hillary Clinton's state department expense of $630,000 generating Facebook "Likes" – but no money available for Benghazi consulate security. Testifying before a Senate committee, she said problems with Benghazi security were "lack of budget."

The establishment of Mrs. Clinton's criminality didn't have to touch e-mails. There was all that ill-gotten cash to expose, from foreign governments that paid the Clinton Foundation handsomely for future favors. Mrs. Clinton proved to be an expert when it came to the art of buying influence and collecting cash, aided by partner Bill.

As Mr. Trump's blackmail allusion described it, "They own her."

Deeper than the corrupt influence peddling however, Hillary's record of favors exposed her lack of principle and moral integrity – definitely she has none. She will deal with whomever is the highest bidder for her favors, no matter the damage to her country. She "fights" for privilege and cash.

Women's "rights" not found among her friends' beliefs? No problem. Homosexuals hated and killed? No problem. Do her "friends" believe in human rights? Do they believe in freedom of religion? Neither one? Once again, not a problem for Mrs. Clinton. She'll do whatever it takes.

Even if they force their own theocratic ideology on others by the sword, Mrs. Clinton has no problem rearranging the deal.

Consider these examples of the friends who bankroll her lust for power:

Saudi Arabia – A major donor to the Clinton Foundation, it gave between $10 and $25 million; the Saudi royal family alone gave the Clinton's operation in Little Rock $10 million. Saudi women are forbidden to drive, needing special permission from their husbands to travel. Marital rape is not recognized as criminal or abusive. Most homosexual acts are condemned by death. The building of Christian churches or Jewish synagogues is forbidden; constructing non-Islamic places of worship is illegal.

Kuwait – This U.S. ally has given between $10 and $15 million to the Bank of Clinton. They have no laws against domestic violence; women are treated as second-class citizens. Homosexual activity is illegal, punishable by up to seven years in prison and subject to hefty fines.

United Arab Emirates (UAE) – The UAE donated up to $5 million to the Clintons. UAE men have the right to beat their wives and marital rape is not recognized.

Brunei – This nation gave up to $5 million, which the Clinton's gladly accepted, though marital rape is not a crime as long as the wife is not under 13 years-old. Homosexual acts are illegal and can carry up to 10 years in prison; in certain cases punishable by death.

Similar examples for Qatar, Oman, and Algeria all show comparative donations and nearly identical abuse of women and homosexuals. Yet Hillary unabashedly campaigns as the "champion" for both.

Apparently, there's no problem selling out your nation to the highest bidder... it's just business. How does someone make $21 million in just two years, from speaking engagements? Donald will find out...

Enough!
